

During this course we had two visits from Wells Fargo and Sun Trust Bank employees. The visit from Sun trust was on Monday July, 27th and we went to Wells Fargo on Tuesday the 28th. Employees from Sun Trust are Michael and the manager. In Wells Fargo we meet with Elton.

Sun Trust presentation was good because they know a lot about the topic and answer our question. The manager was so serious I don't know how in the world people deal with him. On the other hand, Michael was very friendly I think because he was the youngest and knows how to interact with a different range of people.

Wells Fargo's employee was very friendly, funny, and helps us a lot because he had a deep understanding about economics.

I like both presentation but I will choose the one from Wells Fargo. In both presentations we learned about credit card, credit score, and where we can check our score. New thing that I didn't know is what the requirements about how to open an account are. It is very important to always ask for different options and choose the best for you, there are different accounts and is hard to know what the best is without someone guiding you.

It helps me a lot to have a better understanding the presentation from Wells Fargo because he was open to anything at difference from Sun Trust that the manager always wants to talk and interrupt Michael. By the way Elton who is the personal banker was very nice when he gave us his personal card to ask for any questions later on.
